PREFACE

This clan documents the descendants of Richard Warburton and Lucy nee Owen who married at Flixton in 1769.

Richard was originally considered to be the son of John, baptised at Flixton in 1744, and therefore part of the family of John and Ellen nee Royle of the Partington clan. However, John's brother (also Richard) states in his will that there was only one son of John, named Thomas, who was living when Richard died in 1781.

Also Richard of Flixton's age at death implies he was born in 1741. Therefore I have presumed that John and Ellen's son died before 1781, and Richard of Flixton had different, currently unknown parents.

First Generation

1. Richard Warburton. Richard was born abt 1741. Richard died in Flixton, Lancashire, in 1818. He was buried in Flixton, St Michael, Lancashire, on 4 Jan 1818.

Richard was buried aged 76. which implies he was born in 1741. However there is no matching baptism in on-line sources. The closest is at Flixton in 1744 (modern calendar), father John. which is one of a sequence of baptisms that have been associated with John Warburton and Ellen nee Royle. However a family will indicates that in 1781 there was only one son of John's living and his name was Thomas.

Flixton parish records do no include mother's name at this time, so either the Richard baptised in 1744 belonged to a different John, or the baptism of Lucy Owen's husband has not been discovered, and the Richard baptised in 1744 died before 1781.

The names of Richard's children are similar to those used in the Partington clan, suggesting a probable family link, but the connection is not clear.

On 19 Dec 1769 when Richard was 28, he married Lucy Owen in Flixton, St Michael, Lancashire. Lucy was born abt 1746. Lucy died in Flixton, Lancashire, in 1823. She was buried in Flixton, St Michael, Lancashire, on 29 Jan 1823.

There is no registration of a Richard Warburton marrying a Royle in the previous 20 years, yet there is no other registration of a Sarah's birth at Barton upon Irwell. Her death was registered in 3q 1867 Barton upon Irwell 8c 341, aged 4.

Richard's age at death of 62 is a year too high so the records could belong to his cousin Richard, born in Flixton in 1822. However his cousin always lived in Flixton, and Richard's stated abode of Urmston on his burial record matches his last census entry.

PREFACE

This clan documents the descendants to Richard Warburton (c1741-1818) of Flixton and Lucy nee Owen.

Richard was previously believed to be part of the Partington clan, as the son of John Warburton and Ellen nee Royle, but John's brother's will claims he only had one son, Thomas living in 1781, so Richard must belong to a different family.
